

Observations

Based on the data, it can be observed that males are at higher risk of being obese but no decisive conclusion to be drawn, owing to the small sample size of the dataset available.